When manufacturers partner with Field, they’re partnering with experts who will enable their organization to run more efficiently and more profitably. Our fastening expertise is not tied up with one or two engineers; it’s pervasive throughout the organization, which is why training our team is so important. From our Leadership, to outside sales, to VMI representatives, to account managers, to quality technicians, to the engineering group, no one knows more about fastening than Field. We’re proud of the fact that Field’s technical approach to fastening and our empowered team of experts have yielded nearly 20% year-on-year growth since 1990.

INTERNSHIP—SALES & MARKETING

Field, a local distribution company, located in Machesney Park, IL, has an opportunity for a paid internship on our Sales & Marketing team.
