Two for the Show
BSAD alums find success in business and in music

Friends and bandmates Jon Wasleske and Owen Jones have enjoyed successful ventures into both the music world and the business world. As half of the band Windsor Drive and full-time real estate agents, their shared trajectory has taken them across the United States, as far as Asia, and back home to northern Wisconsin. Read their story here.

For more Windsor Drive, see the full-length video of their recent UW-Platteville show or check out their website.
