Building and balancing, DEL student reflects on upcoming graduation

Spring 2015 will present the first graduates of the UW-Platteville Distance Education Leadership program and Lori Wedig is proud to be one of them. Drawn to the program by an interest in higher education, Wedig was excited to start her new journey in a growing field.

"I've been in higher education for about 25 years, mostly through library services," Wedig said. "I love working in higher education and watching this program grow has been a great experience..."
