   From the April 18, 2013 Graduate Council minutes: “Permission to develop – CRIMLJUS (Criminal Justice) 7340, Cyber-Crime, 3 credits, effective spring 2014 – Sabina Burton. (NOTE: this item was moved from the March 2013 meeting.)

   Catalog Description: This course will examine the forms and extent of crimes committed by computer and Internet and how these types of crimes challenge traditional approaches of investigation and prosecution. Topics will include 4th Amendment aspects of computer and cyber-crimes, the law of electronic surveillance, computer hacking, online fraud, cyber-bullying, and other computer crimes as well as encryption, online economic espionage and cyber-terrorism.

   Sabina Burton presented and answered questions. Sabina handed out copies of the latest syllabus for 7340, Cyber-Crime. Cyber-Crime is currently being taught as a topic in the Distance Learning Center. She explained the background and focus of the course.

   David Heimerdinger made a motion to approve for development. Motion was seconded by Bill Haskins.

   Rob Hasker commented that he did not see a clear focus of this course. It seems to be trying to cover too much. Cheryl Banachowski-Fuller remarked that this is an overview and the course is still being developed. They want the course to be general and touch on many topics. Rob Hasker wondered if perhaps instead of one course there should be two or more. Cheryl Banachowski-Fuller indicated that the intent was for this course to be an introductory course to cyber-crime. It should give students a taste of the different areas. Discussion ensued.

   Rob Hasker made a motion to table this item. There was no second and the motion died.

   Bill Haskins suggested a rewrite of the objectives might be in order. The objectives should lean more toward actions of implementation and action taking rather than identifying and understanding. Discussion ensued. Susan Hansen suggested that the course objectives and the course description should be redone and submitted for the second reading.

   Christopher Hanegraaf remarked that the very broad spectrum of topics may be difficult to understand and apply laws with just one course. Perhaps more focus was needed.

   Vote was called on the motion to approve for development. Motion passed with one abstaining.”
5. Two teaching courses being combined into one course – Teaching 7650, Issues in ELL Education, (7650 will be dropped effective end of fall 2013) and Teaching 7660, Methods and Assessment of Teaching English Language Learners, being combined into Teaching 7660, Methods and Issues of Teaching ELL – 3 credits, effective spring 2014 – Karen Stinson.

From the December 13, 2012 Graduate Council minutes: “Permission to develop - DEL (Distance Education Leadership) 7910, Critical Issues in Virtual Education, 3 credits, effective fall 2013 – Keith Smith & Candace Croft.

Catalog description: This course will examine various specialized and timely issues facing educational administrators in the virtual environment, such as the changing face of technology, accreditation, and sociocultural and political perspectives that affect the delivery of education. Susan Hansen presented and answered questions. Wendy Brooke, seconded by David Heimerdinger, made a motion to approve for development. Motion passed.”

7. Second reading - ISCM (Integrated Supply Chain Management) 7520, Warehousing and Distribution Management, 3 credits, effective fall 2013 – David Heimerdinger.

Course description - This course provides students with an understanding of the concepts and theories that drive the effective management of an organization’s warehousing and distribution systems. The course will cover topics that include Warehousing Layout, Design & Configuration, Receiving, Delivery, Material Storage, as well as Distribution strategies, Distribution Network planning, Distribution ERP systems (WMS), System routing, Cross-dock, trucking & tracking, Lean Supply Systems: JIT/Push, Shipping and Transportation mechanisms. (Subject to addition and change as course is further developed). P: ISCM 6100.

William Achia presented and answered questions. He went over the proposed course content. Bill Haskins asked about the pre-requisite being ISCM 6100. Wendy Brooke replied that it should be would ISCM 7100, International Supply Chain Management. Susan Hansen made a motion to approve for development, with the revised pre-requisite of 7100, seconded by Rob Hasker. Motion passed.”

From the May 9, 2013 minutes: “Barb Barnet opened the discussion. Susan Hansen said that maybe wait and see what the APC does. Lisa Riedl asked if the Graduate Council would be willing to take on the in-depth review and submit a summary report to the APC. The general consensus was in favor of the Graduate Council doing the in-depth review and then submitting a summary report to the APC. She indicated that are two forms – A and B – that would be needed. Cheryl Banachowski-Fuller asked if the Graduate Council would only be reviewing the curriculum portion. Lisa Riedle remarked that the APC would like to hear any suggestions/recommendations. Wendy Brooke remarked that we will need to set up a rotation schedule. Discussion ensued. APC has a tentative schedule that will be effective fall 2013. It will be discussed at the September 2013 Graduate Council as to what the assessment schedule will be.”

9. Discuss standards for permission to develop a course – Barb Barnet.

From the May 9, 2013 Graduate Council minutes: “Rob Hasker started the discussion asking if the Graduate Council is approving to develop without enough information. Sometimes the course description is in flux and the course content is not developed. Someone asked what “develop” really mean. Wendy Brooke commented that the Graduate Council went from two readings to permission to develop and a second reading for online courses. Dawn Drake remarked that permission to develop should include all aspects of a syllabus. There should be a definite set to the course. Cheryl Banachowski-Fuller commented that perhaps the Graduate Council has been a little lenient with permission to develop approvals. Discussion ensued. The course outline for development should have the course description, objectives, textbooks, outline of assignments. David Van Buren commented that he believed in the past the Graduate Council approved criteria for permission to develop. Linda Jamieson will look in the past minutes and report to Barb Barnet. No action was taken.”
