5. General Education Course Review recommendation(s):
   a. Appoint subcommittee of David Boyles (EMS), Amanda Tucker (LAE) and one other volunteer from UUCC to investigate the feasibility of the General Education review process and return with a substantial report and/or new review protocol.
   b. Declare a moratorium on proposals for new General Education courses until after the June 1, 2013, deadline for the rapid review process has passed. Although such an action might create inconveniences for a few, the benefits – primarily, reduction of ambiguities and increased efficiency – will extend beyond the UUCC itself. (NOTE: Those persons wishing to create new General Education courses will still be able to develop those courses and seek approval from department and college curriculum committees during the 2012-2013 academic year. The proposals would then be ready for submission to the UUCC in Fall 2013.)
