I've been able to help my organization look at some common sense changes, strategize how to implement them, and assess the impact these changes will have on our customers and stakeholders.
Organizational Change Leadership

Delivered 100% online, UW-Platteville’s Master of Science in Organizational Change Leadership explores the practical application of organizational leadership skills and develops expertise in critical thinking, organizational innovation, decision-making, and creative problem-solving.

You’ll start the program with core courses, like Organizational Behavior, Strategic Thinking and Change, Organizational Communication, and more.

Then choose electives such as Human Resource Management, Conflict Resolution and Negotiation, Organizational Development, Business Ethics, and more. Areas of emphasis are optional but allow you to concentrate your studies in Healthcare, Project Management, or Human Resources.

Have you earned a professional certification from SHRM or ATD? Earn graduate credit for your completed PHR, SPHR, GPHR, or CPLP.
