Good Afternoon Denise,

I apologize for the delay in sending a response. I only work part-time here at the Department. In the scenarios that you describe in your e-mail, the University of Wisconsin-Platteville would not have to seek formal approval from the Delaware Department of Education in order to offer its online programs of study/courses to Delaware residents. Having exams proctored here in DE would not constitute a viable “instructional” activity in a way that internships/externships/field experiences would. You would not have to register in any way with us either. We do ask that if you enroll any DE resident(s) who is/are receiving federal financial aid that you let us know in the event that the USDOE asks for that information in the future. We do not seek personal information, just a number representing how many of these types of students are enrolled at your college.

Sincerely,

Patrick Dunn, Consultant
